A photograph of a two-lane road stretching into the distance. A white car is visible in the distance, driving away from the viewer. The road is flanked by trees and foliage. The image has a warm, orange-tinted overlay. The text "Halfway is an app that calculates the midpoint between two locations." is centered over the image.

Halfway is an app that calculates the midpoint between two locations.

You are given the option to choose your preferred meeting place within that area.
